In this groundbreaking analysis of personality type, bestselling author of Better Than Before and The Happiness Project Gretchen Rubin reveals the one simple question that will transform what you do at home, at work, and in life. During her multibook investigation into understanding human nature, Gretchen Rubin realized that by asking the seemingly dry question "How do I respond to expectations?" we gain explosive self-knowledge. She discovered that based on their answer, people fit into Four Tendencies: Upholders, Questioners, Obligers, and Rebels. Our Tendency shapes every aspect of our behavior, so using this framework allows us to make better decisions, meet deadlines, suffer less stress, and engage more effectively. More than 600,000 people have taken her online quiz, and managers, doctors, teachers, spouses, and parents already use the framework to help people make significant, lasting change. The Four Tendencies hold practical answers if you've ever thought: • People can rely on me, but I can't rely on myself. • How can I help someone to follow good advice? • People say I ask too many questions. • How do I work with someone who refuses to do what I ask—or who keeps telling me what to do? With sharp insight, compelling research, and hilarious examples, The Four Tendencies will help you get happier, healthier, more productive, and more creative. It's far easier to succeed when you know what works for you.

One consequence of the popularity of the MBTI is that it has become increasingly detached from psychological type theory - often to the detriment of the individuals whom it is intended to benefit. Reconnecting the MBTI to type theory has critical practical implications and applications. In this regard, the overall goal of this edition is identical to that of the two editions that preceded it, and indeed to that of the Indicator itself: to make the theory of psychological types described by Jung understandable and useful in people's lives.

Jung's model of typology is the basis for type tests widely used in business and university, including the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI). This book explains in detail Jung's views on the psychological attitudes of introversion and extraversion, the functions of feeling, thinking, sensation and intuition, and the pesky role of the unconscious. It is used regularly by Fortune 500 companies, universities, hospitals, churches, and the military. Its language of personality types--extraversion and introversion, sensing and intuiting, thinking and feeling, judging and perceiving--has inspired television shows, online dating platforms, and BuzzFeed quizzes. Yet despite the test's widespread adoption, experts in the field of psychometric testing, a $2 billion industry, have struggled to validate its results--no less account for its success. How did Myers-Briggs, a homegrown multiple choice questionnaire, infiltrate our workplaces, our relationships, our Internet, our lives? First conceived in the 1920s by the mother-daughter team of Katherine Briggs and Isabel Briggs Myers, a pair of devoted homemakers, novelists, and amateur psychoanalysts, Myers-Briggs was designed to bring the gospel of Carl Jung to the masses. But it would take on a life entirely its own, reaching from the smoke-filled boardrooms of mid-century New York to Berkeley, California, where it was administered to some of the twentieth century's greatest creative minds. It would travel across the world to London, Zurich, Cape Town, Melbourne, and Tokyo, until it could be found just as easily in elementary schools, nunneries, and wellness retreats as in shadowy political consultancies and on social networks. Drawing from original reporting and never-before-published documents, The Personality Brokers takes a critical look at the personality indicator that became a cultural icon. Along the way it examines nothing less than the definition of the self--our attempts to grasp, categorize, and quantify our personalities. Surprising and absorbing, the book, like the test at its heart, considers the timeless question: What makes you, you?

This book intends to inspire and help the reader to acknowledge that we all have flaws, but we can all become flawless by knowing how to stay motivated, maintain happiness, and inspire ourselves and others! In this book, I have included over two hundred inspirational quotes, with the aim to inspire millions around the world! I am hoping that after reading my quotes you will be as fascinated as all the other people who have heard me saying those words for the first time. I have carefully selected and included a number of tools that I have created, with the intentions of showing you a different way of managing difficult situations, and showing my point of view of happiness and success. For example: The 5A's Coping Mechanism System is a great tool to use when facing a challenging situation. The system has five simple steps that are easy and quick to follow, and deal with the situation at hand in a very effective and efficient manner. By following the five simple steps, you will have low stress levels and a clear mind which will enable you to make better decisions. The second system that will greatly assist you is the Conflict Resolution System. When I created this system, my primary aim was to resolve commercial disputes, however, because conflict is part of our everyday life, this eight step system can be used to also resolve any other conflict too. Following these steps will definitely reduce stress, but most importantly will save you a lot of time and money. The third tool is The Leadership Model, very useful to follow for those who want to become great leaders. This tool will enable leaders to acknowledge what skills are needed to be a great leader, and develop those skills which they lack. The fourth system is the Success Model, which has four simple steps on how to become happy and successful. Two vital ingredients that most people nowadays seek to achieve. This tool is very simplistic but necessary for those eager individuals who want to live life to the fullest, both personally and professionally. The Success Model will enable you to recognise whether you live your life to be happy, successful or happy and successful. The fifth tool I have included is the Employed Model, which will highlight to the reader if you are or not pursuing what you love. The concept behind this model is based on responses from personal experience at work, thousands of people responses, and in general what I hear from people when talking about their work. After reading the information I have included in this model, you should be able to make a life changing decision that you are valuable and that you should be treated with respect and dignity at work. I have also included some other sources such as books, tools and ways on how to stay motivated ensuring that the reader has a variety to choose from, and use the sources they think will help the most.
