The third in a set of three integrated listening programs. Teaches students how to listen to music and identify themes and other characteristics which help them appreciate the music. Accompanying texts provide active participation experiences for the students. The Thea Sisters are surprised to find a mysterious love letter on campus. Determined to get the letter to the right mouse - and to figure out who wrote it - they print it in the student newspaper. More letters follow, and everyone at Mouseford wants to know who's writing the romantic notes. Can the Thea Sisters solve the mystery?

The main areas covered by the Bill are: paternity and adoption leave and pay; maternity leave and pay; employment tribunal reform; the resolution of workplace disputes between employers and employees; and miscellaneous and general matters. The Bill amends the following legislation: The Employment Rights Act 1996; The Social Security Contribution Benefits Act 1992; The Employment Tribunals Act 1996; The Employment Rights Act 1996; The Equal Pay Act 1970; The Trade Union and Labour Relations (Consolidation) Act 1992; and The Social Security Administration Act 1992. Some of the key proposals are: two weeks' paternity leave; adoption leave around the placement of a child for adoption for a period of up to one year; two weeks' Statutory Paternity Pay; maternity leave to be increased for a period of up to one year; and the assigning of new employment rights to workers on fixed-term contracts.

Presenting more than two hundred of the greatest haiku ever written about the game. There are moments in every baseball game that make fans catch their breath: the pause while a pitcher looks in for the sign, the moment a cocksure rookie gets picked off first, or the instant a batter lashes a game-winning homer into the night sky, just before the sell-out crowd explodes onto its feet. Haiku captures these moments like no other poetic form, and Baseball Haiku captures the sights, the sounds, the smells, and the emotions of the game like no previous collection. Some of the most important haiku poets of both America and Japan are featured in this anthology; including Jack Kerouac, a longtime baseball fan who pioneered English-language haiku; Alan Pizzarelli, one of the top American haiku and senryu poets of the last thirty years; and Masaoka Shiki, one of the four great pillars of Japanese haiku—a towering figure—who was instrumental in popularizing baseball in Japan during the 1890s. With over two hundred poems spanning more than a century of ball playing, Baseball Haiku reveals the intricate ways in which this enduring and indelible sport—which is played on a field, under an open sky—has always been linked to nature and the seasons. And just as a haiku happens in a timeless now, so too does Baseball Haiku evoke those unforgettable images that capture the actions and atmospheres of the national pastime: each poem resonates like the lonely sound of cleats echoing in the tunnel as a grizzled veteran leaves his final game. The largest collection of haiku and senryu on baseball ever assembled, Baseball Haiku is an extraordinary treasure for any true baseball fan.

As operating manager of a moderate-size gold and diamond mining company, Gerard Triesman spent two months with his crew in the Pakaraima Mountains on the Guyana side of the border with Venezuela. His story of Man ah Bush starts in Georgetown, whereafter a brief family holiday preparations were made to get the company off the ground. In the next phase, the reader is acquainted with the rugged conditions under which the men lived and worked in the interior. The open-minded interaction with one another and contact with the colourful individuals of the region tell of the raw human sentiments which bring the mining community alive. The final reminiscences reveal compelling reasons for Gerardas resettlement into domestic life in Canada. When an upsurge in crime after a jailbreak in Georgetown shattered the boardas comfort level, the companyas direct involvement with gold and diamond mining was withdrawn.

In Mordin On Time, Nick Mordin sets out his method for answering the most fundamental question facing punters in any race, namely: which is the fastest horse? He was timing the sections of races with a stop watch, estimating wind strength and direction, adjusting for movements of running rails, using projected times and calculating average times years before the best-selling American books on speed rating were published. This new edition incorporates much new material, including standard times for all Irish racecourses (plus the major French ones). Mordin On Time enables the reader to construct their own speed ratings wherever they live.

The Psalms is a beautiful presentation of this beloved section of Scripture in large, readable type on high-quality paper. Featuring the ESV text, this edition is great for devotions, liturgical use, or as a gift.

I came to Nigeria because I was considered an alien in that country. The government of Ghana passed a law asking all aliens without resident permits to regularise their stay in the country'. This story of migration, identities and lives undermined by cynical and xenophobic politics pushed to its logical and terrible conclusion pertains to the Ghanaian orders of 'alien compliance' issued in 1970-1971, which determined to force all non-ethnic Ghanaians, so called illegal immigrants, to return to their - so stipulated - 'home'. The novel thus touches on concerns of deeper relevance to the politics of race and migration of the twenty first century.
