

Hallelujah Amen It Is Done Daily Enjoying His Presence

The Christian life is by nature one of faith and often calls you to act in counterintuitive ways. When author Judith Elmer's husband suffered a stroke, she had every reason to protest, and yet Christ invited her to praise God instead. Absurd, right? But when she chose to focus on who God is rather than her circumstances, she experienced an impossible peace that lifted her above the hurt and grief and gave her the strength to endure. God is always worthy of praise and when we acknowledge that truth, our lives can overflow with peace and joy. Take Up the Praise! and Walk On Water teaches you how to grow your faith by practicing the spiritual discipline of praise. Combining scripture, hymns, and personal stories, this book also includes interactive sections throughout the text where you can write your own responses to questions such as: What is your battle cry for help? What song is God singing over you? What helps you turn your eyes on Jesus? Great for small groups, Bible study and retreat settings, this book can also serve as a personal devotional or a gift for a friend in need of comfort.

This book presents an African Christian movement full of vitality and creativity. The reader will meet believers who drink milk so that they may dream about angels, reports about funerals where the mourners dance with the coffin on their shoulders and church members who are ritually not allowed to fertilize their fields or wear neck ties. The author's unique insight into Malawi's Christian community addresses important issues in society. Why have 'Spirit Churches,' including Pentecostalism, been so successful in Malawi? Why do some religious groups still refuse medical help, up to the point that children die of cholera? How did the independent churches deal with the colonial trauma? In this masterful portrait, Strohhahn takes the reader from industrial mine compounds to rural colonies, where churches have set up their own spiritual and political rule. He carefully dissects the fine lines between traditional notions and Christianity's influence. We find a spiritual portrait of the Ngoni people, a fascinating cultural analysis of dancing and an encounter with a unique style of preaching.

Blackmail and murder lead Nick Cotton and his friend, Roscoe Buckmiller, to investigate a bogus church camp with armed guards. They discover the camp is supported by an East coast crime boss for the purpose of training and selling troubled young girls into prostitution. The test for Nick and Roscoe is finding a way to shut down the camp without harming innocent people.

Christians are invited to daily enjoy God's presence, practice listening to Him, and to lock their hearts together in prayer. We can expect powerful effects when we come together to praise Him...Hallelujah! surrender to His will...Amen. and live in faith as His plan unfolds...It Is Done. There is power in prayer when His children agree with His Word. Let's cheer the Holy Spirit on! Let us pray! When we sense the presence of His Holy Spirit and hear Him speak to our hearts, there is great joy...JOY you don't want to miss! With day-to-day prayer prompts for the entire year, author Judith Elmer offers Christians an engaging opportunity to make daily prayer a true joy. This powerful book is perfect for individual use, and provides fresh, inspiring direction in prayer groups, at Christian retreats, within the family, and for teaching. With prayers such as "Visible Garbage," "Jaded Yet Never Too Tough," "Healer for All Diseases" and "The Voices of Brides," we clearly see the connection of prayer to every aspect of life. What started for the author as a simple plan of keeping a journal so she would become more aware of God's presence in her life also became a spiritual warfare weapon for her. She discovered that writing down the evidence of God's presence in her life, and the scriptures that He whispered into her mind, was a powerful safeguard against the enemy stealing her joy. Over the years, the Holy Spirit guided her thoughts and heart as He designed these prayers written in this book. Be encouraged, be uplifted and be inspired! Let Hallelujah! Amen. It Is Done. be your invitation to pray, come closer, listen, and enjoy the One True God.

Living with Tourette syndrome is not an easy adventure. Growing up in an age of ignorance for this disease caused turmoil, anguish, and hardship, to say the least. Through poetry, the author tried to capture the emotion and passion connected with this disorder, to help bring about an understanding of what Tourette syndrome is about, and that the path to freedom goes through the cross of Jesus Christ. May those who read be surely blessed.

Born in 1929, I ushered in the Great Depression which kept my family in relative poverty until after the Second World War in 1945. Nevertheless I was given a good education by my greatly honoured self-sacrificing parents to whom I am overwhelmingly thankful. Educated at Scotch College, Melbourne and at Melbourne and Monash Universities, I was privileged to be able to gain two Masters degrees (Science and Education) and a Doctorate (Education) by 1979. I hold membership in the Royal Society of Victoria, and am a Member of the Australian College of Education. As a professional educator I initially worked with High School students in Chemistry, Biology and Mathematics, and developed a special interest in Science education for girls at a time when the conventional wisdom was that girls by and large did not possess the mental infrastructure to handle the complex theoretical Sciences. Fifteen years in the classroom with boys and girls 'doing Science' convinced me of the folly of such a generalisation. In my subsequent University career I was mainly concerned with undergraduate education in the Biological Sciences (Cytology, Genetics and Biochemistry). In the academic world where much time is given to research in one's specific field, undergraduate teaching is frequently given short shrift. My own field became the academic well-being of the students in my own University, The Royal Melbourne Institute of Technology. Accordingly I was able to research the personal and cultural influences on academic attainment and attitude formation. Statistical studies revealed a variety of factors which University administrators could well consider in their endeavours to improve the performance of their students. Since retirement my educational interests have turned to the Scientific education of young children. In response to media criticism of that area of education in Australia, I worked with Primary School teachers in their classrooms to develop Science curricula which are sensitive to the intellectual developmental stages of children in terms of Piagetian psychology and the foundational mental constructs necessary to build a good Scientific understanding in Secondary School. I am passionate about Jesus Christ's notion of a perfect society (Kingdom of God), and for most of my non-professional life have been engaged in charitable activities in Victoria. My Principal contribution in this field has been through Habitat for Humanity Australia, a Christian organisation which helps the economically disadvantaged to build and to purchase their own simple, decent affordable homes. For this I was awarded an Australia Day Award (Deakin) for Community Service in 1999. At the age of eighty one years I have a wife, three married sons, and eight delightful grand children to whom this novel is dedicated. I enjoy walking, music (solo voice and choral conducting) and, of course, writing - especially essays about life in Australia. "Stranger in Dixie" is my first venture into historical fiction. Indeed "Stranger in Dixie" may never have been written had I not had correspondence with one of my late relatives, Bill Wannan. Bill was one of Australia's leading authorities in Australian folklore. His magnum opus, "Australian Folklore - A Dictionary of Lore, Legends and Popular Allusions", achieving international recognition in 1970. It was Bill who pointed out that he and I had a common ancestry which had been profoundly influenced by the American Civil War. "Somebody", he said to me, "should write a novel about it". Several years of painstaking research into the history of the last four generations of my family have provided a picture of lives full of colour and adventure which had been lived out in dramatic periods of history in three different countries - England, Australia and America - in that order. Sarah Johnson, Assistant Professor of History at Eastern Illinois University

In order for twenty-first century readers to properly understand Revelation, we have to look at it through first century eyes. Their understanding of the book frames our understanding. Start with the assumption that the last book of the Bible is exactly what it purports to be - a revelation, not a mystery. Add to that assumption the fact that it was written by a first century author and that it was originally read by first century readers who were expected to understand and obey the message contained in it. Take into consideration their first century frame-of-reference and the authors familiarity with the Old Testament. Wrap that all up in the popular apocalyptic literary genre of its day with its pervasive use of symbolism. That mixture of elements is what gave rise to the Book of Revelation.

One of the gifts from the Lord into my life is praying. I love praying so much as the Holy Spirit leads me to do so. I live my life praying and am proud of that. God has kept me because of divine communion with him. God is always looking for someone to stand in gap. God lead me by the power of his mighty to start writing a book on prayer. A prayerless life is a wasted life without God in it .When you discover the secret of prayer, you do not want to be with any at any one moment. Let this book bring the best out of you to discover your divine gifts from the Lord. Something is hidden in you. Pray about it, and in due season, God will bring the best out of you if you seek his face continuously. God hears prayers of his children. A child can pray, and God will answer that child. A young person can pray and God will hear. God is no respecter of persons. Your faith will determine the quality of your prayers. I just want to encourage you to open up your heart to God. He will come in and speak to your heart as his child. Greater is he who is in us than he that is the world. Do not forget that. In Jesus's mighty name, amen.

Witness Lee speaks of the church in The Practical Expression of the Church, not only from the viewpoint of God's eternal purpose, which is the church triumphant and universal, but also from the viewpoint of the believers' experience and enjoyment of the riches of Christ, which produces a local expression of the church, an expression that displays the oneness of the Body of Christ and brings in God's commanded blessing (Psalm 133).

HAVING DONE ALL TO STAND...STAND! Ephesians 6:10-14 says, "10 Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might. 11 Put on the whole armor of God, that you may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. 12 For we do not wrestle against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this age, against spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places. 13 Therefore take up the whole armor of God, that you may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand. 14 Stand therefore..." We have been called to stand and to persevere in faith when trials come our way—but we never stand alone—we stand in the shadow of the Almighty. He is our God! He is our Defender! He is our Deliverer! And it is In Him that we receive our VICTORY! In fact, Psalm 91:1-11 promises us, "He who dwells in the secret place of the Most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty. 2 I will say of the LORD, "He is my refuge and my fortress; My God, in Him I will trust." 3 Surely He shall deliver you from the snare of the fowler and from the perilous pestilence. 4 He shall cover you with His feathers, and under His wings you shall take refuge; His truth shall be your shield and buckler. 5 You shall not be afraid of the terror by night, nor of the arrow that flies by day, 6 nor of the pestilence that walks in darkness, nor of the destruction that lays waste at noonday. 7 A thousand may fall at your side, and ten thousand at your right hand; but it shall not come near you. 8 Only with your eyes shall you look, and see the reward of the wicked. 9 Because you have made the LORD, who is my refuge, even the Most High, your dwelling place, 10 No evil shall befall you, nor shall any plague come near your dwelling; 11 for He shall give His angels charge over you, to keep you in all your ways." 1 Peter 1:6-7 encourages us saying, “6 In this you greatly rejoice, though now for a little while, if need be, you have been grieved by various trials, 7 that the genuineness of your faith, being much more precious than gold that perishes, though it is tested by fire, may be found to praise, honor, and glory at the revelation of Jesus Christ. It doesn't matter how impossible our situations may seem in the natural—God is capable of moving Heaven and Earth to see us through. Our job is to put on our spiritual armor, to stand on the promises of the Bible, and to persevere—UNTIL WE WIN!
