DISCOVER THE JAPANESE SECRET TO FINANCIAL WELL-BEING: The Kakeibo is a wonderful tool for anyone who wants to make keeping track of their spending more streamlined People in Japan are masters of minimal living, able to make do with less in all aspects of life, whether it's de-cluttering personal belongings or savvy seasonal cooking. At the heart of all this is the kakeibo: the budgeting journal used to set savings goals and track spending. The premise is simple: at the beginning of each month, the prompts in this book help you to plan how much you would like to save and what you need to do in order to reach your goal. The kakeibo then gives you space to jot down your weekly spending and reflect on the month just gone. The act of completing your journal ensures that saving is a part of your everyday life, while also giving you the opportunity to reflect and improve every month. Takekeibo (????) is the essential tool used by any money-savvy Japanese household budget manager (usually the wife!). Takekeibo literally means household finance ledger and it is easy to use to take charge of your finances and budget. If you control the money for the household, you need this Japanese household budgeting tool to help you with household finances (??), show you how to save money (???), and take charge of the household finance ledger (???). A truly diligent budget manager/housewife diligently keeps up her takekeibo every day, noting down items in each budget category. This is easy to do with the 6"X9" Takekeibo book. The Takekeibo book gets you to think before you make a purchase. How much money do you have available? How much would you like to save? How much are you spending? How can you improve? Before you spend your hard earned money, ask yourself these questions: Can I live without this item? Based on my financial situation, can I afford it? Will I actually use it? Do I have the space for it? How did I come across it in the first place? What is my emotional state in general today? How do I feel about buying it? The less you spend, the more you will save. Here are some simple takekeibo-themed strategies to ensure that you spend more mindfully: Wait 24 hours before a major purchase Don't let BIG sales tempt you Check your bank balance often Spend in cash only Put reminders in your wallet Change your spending environment. Remember to be mindful always. The main thing that makes Takekeibo saving unique is the added component of mindfulness. Pay close attention to your spending and think about whether or not your purchases make you happy. Write down your spending as you go in this 6X9 inch, 100-page, paperback Takekeibo book. Keep your Takekeibo journal with you throughout the day and jot down your spending as you make purchases. This will help you be mindful of how your money is spent. Track the following in the Takekeibo book's pre-formatted pages: Monthly Budget Progress Budget Summary Monthly Savings Plan Savings Tracker Monthly Money Goals Tracker Monthly Expense Tracker Financial Journal Save money the Japanese way. It does work!
