Salespeople will learn: "the inner game of selling" how to eliminate the fear of rejection how to build unshakeable self-confidence Salespeople, says Tracy, must learn to control their thoughts, feelings, and actions to make themselves more effective.

He knew that if he could introduce them to a system that he had developed and refined as a salesperson (and later as a sales manager), they could easily become much more effective at closing more sales faster! The system became a reality when he wrote this book as a companion to his system's website, www.goodbyesellingproblems.com. Through this sales system he is confident that he can change the way small businesses sell and make fundamental cultural changes in their approach to marketing their products and services.

In the high-pressure quest to make a sale, acquire a contract, and beat out other bidders, sales professionals frequently resort to cutting prices, offering discounts, or making other concessions that cut into their operating margins—short-term strategies that are destructive to the long-term sustainability of their business. High-Profit Selling helps readers understand that their sales goal shouldn't simply be to sell more, but to sell more at a higher price—and that success comes only to those focused on profitable sales. This eye-opening book shows readers how to: Avoid negotiating → Actively listen to customers → Match the benefits of their product or service with the customer's needs and pains → Confidently communicate value → Successfully execute a price increase with existing customers → Ensure prospects are serious and not shopping for price Too many salespeople believe that a sale at any price is better than no sale at all. This powerful guide helps move readers toward a profit-centered approach that will strengthen their relationships and increase their bottom line.

The power of metaphor to break through in a noisy world and sell, persuade, & explain anything to anyone

In Sell Something Everyday you will learn the importance of making the big and the small sales.

The salesperson is the primary differentiator in the closings today. As products and services become scarce, buyers are likely to get a similar offer from another company. But what they don't get from any salesperson is the same sales experience created by the sales rep. This means that sellers have almost complete control over their destiny. In a bad product line, instead of putting the blame on a bad month or less than a star, unsuccessful agents can look at ways to analyze their processes and make them more buyer-focused and buyer-friendly. No matter what industry you are in or what kind of companies you sell to, some sales are axial. This book can help you sell more to anybody in this world.

Tells consumers how to recognize the meaningless claims, ambiguous words, and visual and psychological tricks contained in popular television commercials

If you've read other selling books, you're probably tired of the false promises that never quite work out. You're probably tired of being told "you can do it if you just believe you can. This book is: A road map to success for the salesman... who is not aggressive - who is not a "smooth talker" - and who is not an extrovert. You're probably tired of reading about tricks that made a particular sale tricks that may have been appropriate to a particular situation, but not yours and even if they were appropriate, how would you have thought of them at the right time? If you've read books on selling before or listened to "sales experts," you're probably tired of being pumped with hot air told how you must "come alive," be full of enthusiasm, dominate the world around all the things that don't happen to be a part of your basic nature. Well, this book isn't anything like that. In fact, this book was written to refute many cliches of selling that have been accepted without question for years. This book will prove to you, I hope, that the stereotyped image of the "born salesman" is a mistake. You don't have to remake your personality and become super-enthusiastic, super-aggressive, domineering. Not only are those traits not necessary, they are actually a hindrance to making sales. And you won't have to develop that uncanny ability to come up with the right answer at the right time that super-human knack of having the brilliant flash of insight that is so prevalent in books on selling. Sure, given several days to think about it, the writer of a sales book can always come up with a solution to a sales problem. But how does that help you when confronted face-to-face with a question that must be answered now? This book will show you that you don't need such skills. This book can truly revolutionize your selling career but only because it will show you that you no longer need to waste your time developing skills that are of no value to a salesman. For example, here are some of the points that will be made in the course of this book: -- Contrary to the accepted mythology, enthusiasm is not a virtue; it destroys more sales than it creates.-- "Positive thinking" is an unrealistic fallacy. The salesman who thinks negatively has a far greater chance for success than the so-called "positive thinker."-- Sales success does not come from convincing people to buy things they don't want.-- The salesman who always has an answer for every objection is also probably plugging along with a very low income.-- Extroverts don't make the best salesmen; they are invariably outsold by introverts.-- To be a good salesman, you don't have to be a "smooth talker".-- Another all-time sales fallacy is the statement "When the going gets tough, the tough get going". When the going gets tough, I usually take a vacation.-- The desire to be able to motivate others is unrealistic and foolish. A really-great salesman will never try to motivate anyone.Perhaps all of this sounds so far removed from what you've heard about selling through the years that you wonder how it could possibly be true. I intend to demonstrate the validity of these statements in two ways.First, my own experience verifies their worth. Almost invariably, in any selling experience where I've found myself, I have outsold everyone else around me usually while working far fewer hours.In addition, I've seen these principles work for a few others, too a very few, for they are unknown to most people.But there is nothing mysterious about them and that brings us to second way in which I will demonstrate their validity. I will prove them to you. We will deal with life logically and carefully in this book. Everything will be proven in terms of the real world as it is in ways we can both understand.

SELLING THE INVISIBLE is a succinct and often entertaining look at the unique characteristics of services and their prospects, and how any service, from a home-based consultancy to a multinational brokerage, can turn more prospects into clients and keep them. SELLING THE INVISIBLE covers service marketing from start to finish. Filled with wonderful insights and written in a roll-up-your-sleeves, jargon-free, accessible style, such as: Greatness May Get You Nowhere Focus Groups Don'ts The More You Say, the Less People Hear & Seeing the Forest Around the Falling Trees.

People don't buy from people they like. No! Your buyer doesn't care about you or your product or service. It's not your job to overcome objections, it's your buyer's. Closing isn't a skill of good salespeople; it's the skill of weak salespeople. Price isn't the main reason salespeople lose the sale. Gap Selling shreds traditional and closely held sales beliefs that have been hurting salespeople for decades. For years, salespeople have embraced a myriad of sales tactics and belief systems that have unknowingly created many of the issues they have been trying to avoid such as: long sales cycles, price objections, no decision, prospects going dark, last minute feature requests, and more. Success at sales requires more than a set of tactics. Salespeople need to understand the game of sales, how sales works, and what the buyer is going through in order to make the decision to buy (change) or not to buy (not change). Gap Selling is a game-changing book designed to raise the sales IQ of selling organizations around the world. In his unapologetic and irreverent style, Keenan breaks down the tired old sales myths causing today's frustrating sales issues, to highlight a deceptively powerful new way to connect with buyers. Today's sales world is littered with glorified order takers, beholden to a frustrated buyer, unable to influence the sale and create value. Gap Selling flips the script and creates salespeople with immense influence at every stage of the buying process, capable of impacting the sales metrics that matter: Shorter Sales Cycles Increased Revenue Elevated Deal Values Higher Win Rates Fewer No Decisions More Leads And Happier Buyers Gap Selling elevates the sales world's selling IQ and turns sales order takers into sales influencers.

Through storytelling, a salesperson can explain products or services in ways that resonate, connect people to the mission, and speak to the part of the brain where decisions are made. experts in organizational storytelling, focuses his wildly popular and proven formula to the sales arena. He identifies the ingredients of the most effective sales stories and reveals how to:

$4997, Even $20,000 High Ticket Products and Programs Are you tired of making measly $7, $10 and $20 sales? You drive so much traffic only to make such a small amount. Your competitors are fierce and everyone's under cutting one another. How would you like to make $997 to $20,000 sales from each customer? Think about it... If you make just 5 sales of $4,997 a month, that's $24,985! Let's be a bit more conservative -- at $497 a pop with only 5 customers, that's $2,485. That's the power of selling high ticket products! "If Selling High Ticket is So Good, Why Aren't More People Doing it?" A lot of people still shy away from selling high ticket items. Why is this? It comes down to a lot of things but one of the first issues is that they lack confidence. If you aren't confident in your own ability to provide great value and if you don't believe that anything you can create will be worth $2,000, then you might simply avoid trying to make anything for that value. People also tend to do this when selling services. Rather than go after the top clients and offer $2,000 for a web design, they aim for the lower end clients and charge $200. They make much more work for themselves and basically that's because they undervalue themselves and they undervalue their time. Another reason that people don't sell high ticket items is that they don't know anything about it. They don't realize that it's an option and once they do consider it, they don't really know how to go about it. There is a ton of information out there on how to set up your own ecommerce store, how to sell affiliate products and how to create ebooks to sell at $10 a pop. But there's much less information on selling high ticket items. So how can you get started with your own high ticket business? I've written a guide on this exact subject so you can finally reap the benefits. Allow me to introduce you to... HIGH TICKET SALES AUTHORITY How To Create, Package And Sell Your Own High Ticket Course And Attract High Paying Clients What you'll discover in this eBook: How to create a high ticket product that you're really proud of and that you're willing to sell for a lot of money How to reach the right audience and build trust and authority with them Ideas for the types of high ticket items you can create The pros and cons of different types of product How to build a sales funnel to create trust and make that sale How to create a relationship with your buyers Examples of some of the best high ticket products and how they sell How to create a coaching product How to choose a price Which tools to use to build your high ticket business ...and much, much more!
