Thousands of students have successfully improved their writing and design skills using Anderson's TECHNICAL COMMUNICATION: A READER-CENTERED APPROACH. Known for its treatment of the rhetorical situation and coverage of usefulness and persuasion, this edition renews the focus on the reader-centered approach and includes new learning outcomes at the start of each chapter to help students gain more from their reading. Important Notice: Media content referenced within the product description or the product text may not be available in the ebook version.

This book covers the new EDPM CSEC syllabus to be taught from September 2011. It introduces computing fundamentals, electronic communication and keyboarding techniques before teaching the Microsoft Office (2003 - 2010) skills required by the course. Next, students are shown several aspects of document preparation, complete with sample documents. After covering document management and ethics, it gives SBA tips and exam papers (with answers included on the CD). Exercises and summaries are found at the end of each chapter. The accompanying CD-ROM is packed with material including interactive revision questions, PowerPoint presentations, tutorial videos, exercise files and a comprehensive glossary.

InfoWorld is targeted to Senior IT professionals. Content is segmented into Channels and Topic Centers. InfoWorld also celebrates people, companies, and projects.

Here is the book for anyone in the document chain. For Managers: Get the overview of the many print data streams found in your shop, from the high end to the desktop. Learn the resource terms and gain an understanding that will help you communicate effectively with the technicians. And, find out why documents don't always look the same, and why some are more of a problem than others! For Technicians: Learn the background behind the print data streams you work with every day and gain some insight into how to resolve problems in moving legacy data beyond its current print environment. There is even an appendix with vendor resources from around the world to help you solve your font, graphic, and transform problems.

The National Household Education Survey (NHES) is a random digit dial telephone survey of households developed by the National Center for Education Statistics. It has been conducted in 1991, 1993, 1995, and 1996, with varying components each year. The NHES 91/93/95/96 CD-ROM contains an electronic codebook (ECB) program that, after being installed on a personal computer, allows the user to examine the variables in each of the NHES data sets as well as create Statistical Analysis System (SAS) or Statistical Package for the Social Sciences (SPSS) programs to generate an extract data file for any of the NHES data files on the CD-ROM. The files include the 1991 and 1995 Adult Education files, the primary and preprimary education files from 1991, the school readiness and school safety files from 1993, the 1995 early childhood program participation file, and the 1996 household and library, parent and family involvement in education and civic involvement, youth civic involvement, and adult civic involvement files. The ECB is a DOS-based program for IBM-compatible personal computers. Sections describe its contents and use, focusing on what can be done with the ECB and how to do it. Emphasis is on extracting information from the files. Eight appendixes provide specific use information and samples, including SAS and SPSS samples. (SLD)
