Excerpt from Letter From the Mayor of Washington in Reference to the Relations of the General Government to the City of Washington: November, 1865 Upon the property reserved for the use and purposes of the nation the general government has expended in buildings and other improvements for its own exclusive use the sum of 67, partly taken from the public treasury, and partly from the sale of the lots donated from private individuals, while the reservations themselves are valued at 36, making the aggregate value of the nation's real property in this city at the time of the assessment, now some years since, to be 45, nearly equal in value to all individual property, and which, if liable to the same burden, would yield by way of taxation a revenue to this city of $210, 912 23 annually. This Immense property of the government has at all times been free from taxation, while property of individuals has been subject to it. Holding here more property than elsewhere in the Union, assessments upon which alike to private property have from time to time been made, the government has been subject to no imposition of the kind, and taxes collected only from individuals.
