This is the first book which provides an engaging and insightful narrative on the life of a geographer in India. The author introspects on her own experiences and engagements with the discipline and explores the life and works of twenty-four other geographers from India. The volume documents and acknowledges the commitment of geographers to life, teaching, and the subject of geography. Collectively these provide an insight into the growth and expansion of the discipline in the country. The book offers critical perspectives on the changing disciplinary practices within the field of geography by highlighting the major achievements and teaching methods of geographers. It highlights the diverse interests, themes, and problems in geography which these geographers pursued while also influencing the lives of other researchers and professionals. This book will be of immense interest to students, teachers, and researchers of geography and social anthropology and readers interested in the lives of these influential educators and academicians.

“Excellent story of Shri H. L. Gupta, a self-made visionary educationist. He was a pioneer in the field of private education in J&K State. This biography highlights the principled approach and missionary zeal with which he nurtured Model Academy into Model Institute of Education and Research, a nationally reputed educational institution for higher education.”

General JJ Singh, Former Governor of Arunachal Pradesh and Chief of Army Staff “I have enjoyed the unique privilege of sharing a personal and working relationship with three generations of Guptas, beginning from Sh. H. L. Gupta to Dr Arun K. Gupta and now, Dr Adit Gupta and Dr Ankur Gupta. It is indeed credible how his legacy has been diligently and painstakingly kept alive and enriched over the years. The book not only traces the growth of the education system in the early nineteenth century, in the private sector, but also serves as a handbook to inspire and guide those who single-mindedly choose to devote themselves to the cause of education”. Dr. Jitendra Singh, Diabetologist, Union Minister of State (Independent Charge) for Development of North Eastern Region. MoS PMO, Govt. of India

The book focuses on the state of education and on the levels of inequality among gender, rural–urban and social groups. Taking into account the various findings from existing literature on the qualitative and quantitative aspects of education, it uses empirical findings based on a revised methodology to draw new conclusions. This revised method was devised to define the size of population eligible for enrollment and was then employed to estimate the Gross Enrollment Rate (GER) and Gross Literacy Rate (GLR) at various completed education levels, using age-wise data from the Population Census, 2011. This methodology is based on the concept that among those eligible for enrollment/literacy, a few never get chance to enrol and others achieve various levels of literacy by remaining engaged in formal or informal education up to various ages. The book comes up with findings that have deep significance so far as policy making is concerned towards improving the state of education in India. There are fourteen hypotheses that the book proposes based on the study and each hypothesis is accompanied with policy suggestions. Interestingly, one of the hypotheses is that arbitrariness of government policies creates more problems and, as such, before proposing a policy change the government needs to put in more effort and time in planning and come up with carefully chalked out processes. In addition to being a valuable resource for researchers working in this area, the book has huge policy implications and think tanks working towards improving education in India.
